Dear Members of the Legislative Assembly of Saskatchewan,

I am writing to you as a concerned disabled resident of Saskatchewan regarding a deeply troubling issue that has come to my attention. It has been reported that Loblaws has been exploiting disabled individuals as free labour. As someone who lives with a disability, I find these allegations deeply disturbing and unacceptable.

I understand that there are programs in place designed to assist disabled individuals in gaining meaningful employment. However, these programs are intended to provide real opportunities and fair compensation, not to subject participants to prolonged periods of unpaid labor. The exploitation of disabled individuals in this manner is not only unethical but also a violation of their rights and dignity.

It is alarming to hear that Loblaws has been boasting about utilizing disabled people across Canada without proper remuneration. This behaviour can only be described as a form of slave labor, and it must be addressed with the utmost urgency. No one should be forced to work for months on end without receiving appropriate compensation for their efforts.

I am calling on you, as a representative of the people of Saskatchewan, to initiate a thorough investigation into the practices of Loblaws within our province. It is crucial to ensure that disabled individuals are not being exploited and that their rights are protected. This investigation should aim to uncover any instances of unpaid labor and hold those responsible accountable for their actions.

The disabled community deserves respect and fair treatment in the workplace. It is imperative that our government takes a stand against such exploitation and demonstrates its commitment to upholding the rights of all its citizens. I urge you to take immediate action and investigate the labor practices at Loblaws properties in Saskatchewan.

Thank you for your attention to this critical matter. I look forward to your prompt response and to seeing meaningful steps immediately taken to address this issue.

Sincerely,
